New staging.

The designer: Robin Platt, born 1962, initially studied at the London College of Furniture and now lives in the south of France. He is one of the most distinctive representatives of the new British design. Among his clients are Grupo T, Cidue, Sawaya & Moroni and Driade. For Rosenthal he has already designed the series »Table-Wear«, »Yono« and »Spirit« and now in the year of Rosenthal's 125th anniversary, the new collection »Free Spirit«.

Design: Robin Platt

INNOVATION HAS A FORM:

FREE SPIRIT

The name of this new collection, "Free Spirit", has not been given without reason. For its origins lie in the spirit dish, with its characteristic dual wing formation that has already fired the imagination of many chefs all over the world towards novel and unusual creations.

The dynamics of the wave-like contour has been caught in the entire Free Spirit collection; controlled and taut, yet without losing any of the fire and energy of the original dish.

The link was then created between the spine of the form, the elegant, delicate plates in their stringent geometric shape, one-armed "spirit" dishes, that can be grouped or stand as solitary pieces and the matching glass dishes, which may be placed, for example, into the deep plates and, with their unostentatious accents of colour that alter with the angle of looking, make for an attractive décor effect on the white porcelain.
